As Malaysia strives to scale up the global value chain, its business valuation ecosystem must also evolve to support the transformation of Malaysian companies from laggards to leaders. In today's complex valuation landscape, valuers are expected to address increasing scrutiny over data, assumptions and reporting while responding to artificial intelligence, intangible-driven business models and renewed efforts to reverse the undervaluation of Malaysian companies. At the same time, the development of Malaysian business valuation standards and the wider discussion on competency, professional recognition and accountability create an opportunity to position business valuation as a more clearly recognised professional discipline.

With a strong focus on market and practice needs, the Business Valuation Forum 2026 will challenge participants to move beyond mechanically producing a number towards delivering valuation conclusions that are credible, explainable, commercially relevant and capable of withstanding board, audit and regulatory challenge.

OBJECTIVES

- Examine the forces shaping value creation and valuation practice in Malaysia
- Strengthen professional scepticism, judgement, documentation, and communication in valuation engagements
- Explore how AI and modern business models are changing valuation methods, data, and competency requirements
- Consider how standards, professional recognition, and stronger accountability can enhance confidence in Malaysia's valuation ecosystem
- Connect valuers with boards, CFOs, auditors, regulators, investors, lawyers, and transaction professionals who rely on valuation work

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Business Valuers
- Accountants in public practice
- CFOs and Finance Leaders
- Auditors and Audit Valuation Specialists
- Board and Audit Committee Members
- Investment Bankers, Corporate Finance and M&A Advisers
- Private Equity and Venture Capital Professionals
- Regulators, Lawyers, and Expert Witnesses
- Academics and valuation users

FORUM PROGRAMME

8.30 am	REGISTRATION & WELCOME REFRESHMENTS
9.00 am	WELCOME REMARKS
9.10 am	KEYNOTE ADDRESS
9.25 am	FIRECHAT SESSION MALAYSIA INC. AT A DISCOUNT: WHY ARE OUR COMPANIES UNDERVALUED—AND WHAT WILL IT TAKE TO CLOSE THE GAP? Malaysia's renewed focus on value creation makes this an opportune time to confront a difficult question: why do many Malaysian companies continue to trade below their perceived intrinsic value or regional peers, and which levers can genuinely narrow the gap? Anchored in the MY Value Up programme, the session will examine the broader implications of this valuation gap for Malaysia's competitiveness and its ambitions for sustainable value creation.
9.45 am	PANELLIST SESSION WHEN THE NUMBERS ARE CHALLENGED: BUILDING VALUATIONS THAT CAN SURVIVE SCRUTINY A credible valuation must withstand scrutiny not only of the final number, but also of the information, assumptions, professional judgement and processes that underpin it. Valuers frequently work with management forecasts and information that may be incomplete, optimistic or inconsistent with market evidence, while their conclusions may subsequently be challenged by boards, auditors, regulators, investors, tax authorities or the courts. This session will examine how professional scepticism, evidence triangulation, transparent reporting, appropriate standards and demonstrable competency come together to produce valuations that are credible and defensible.
11.00 am	MORNING REFRESHMENTS & NETWORKING
11.30 am	PANELLIST SESSION THE BOARDROOM VALUATION HOT SEAT: ONE NUMBER, BIG DECISIONS AND DEALS THAT WENT WRONG Boards often want a clear number to support an acquisition, restructuring, impairment, succession or capital-allocation decision. Yet the apparent precision of a valuation can disguise uncertainty and weak assumptions. Combining the original boardroom and failed-deal topics, this session will examine what boards should ask before relying on a valuation and what failed or disputed transactions teach us about decision quality.
12.45 pm	LUNCH & NETWORKING
1.45 pm	THE SUSTAINABILITY PREMIUM OR DISCOUNT: DOES ESG REALLY CHANGE BUSINESS VALUE? Sustainability-related risks and opportunities increasingly influence business models, cash flows, cost structures, access to capital, growth prospects and long-term competitiveness. Yet translating these factors into valuation assumptions remains challenging. The key question for valuers is not simply whether ESG matters, but when it becomes financially material and how it should be reflected in valuation without double counting or introducing unsupported premiums and discounts.
2.15 pm	PANELLIST SESSION BEYOND DCF: ARE WE VALUING TOMORROW'S BUSINESSES WITH YESTERDAY'S MODELS? Technology platforms, subscription businesses, data-rich companies and early-stage ventures often have limited profits, short operating histories and significant intangible value. This session will challenge the mechanical use of conventional DCF and market-multiple approaches while remaining grounded in valuation fundamentals.
3.30 pm	PANELLIST SESSION AI DIDN'T REPLACE VALUERS...YET: THE NEW VALUATION TOOLKIT AND THE SKILLS THAT STILL MATTER AI can accelerate research, comparable-company screening, data cleansing, forecasting, scenario testing and model review. The real question is not whether valuers should use AI, but how they can use it responsibly while retaining accountability for judgement, evidence and the final conclusion.
4.45 pm	CLOSING REMARKS
5.00 pm	AFTERNOON REFRESHMENTS AND END OF SYMPOSIUM
